COMPENSATION HEARINGS.

Two Involving Accidents at Danielson and Somers Considered.

In the first case Marjory Cheski was the plaintiff, and the defendants were the Connecticut Mills Co., of Danielson and the Liability Assurance Co., of New York. Liability had been admitted and the question was over the manner of payment. Cheski lost an arm while in the employ of the company in August of last year. L. R. Burton of New Haven appeared for the insurance company and P. J. Barrett of Leary and Fullerton, Saratoga, appeared for the plaintiff.

The second case was that of the heirs of Giuseppe Viotti against Charles DeBishop of Somers. Viotti was killed by a falling tree while logging for the defendant. In May, 1914, the question was through what channel the money should be paid to the defendant, in this case his wife, who is living in Italy.

SERIES OF BAND CONCERTS.

Latest Plan of American Thread Company for Pleasure of Its Employees and the General Public.

One of the most gratifying features of Willimantic's summer life for the past three seasons has been the recreation park provided by the generosity of the American Thread company for its employees and the general public. The company has installed two baseball diamonds, erected a grandstand with a seating capacity of one thousand, a comfortable house and rest room for the women and a clubhouse with shower baths and one hundred steel lockers, making possible an opportunity for high class baseball on Saturdays and for school and scrub games during the week.

In preparation for this year will be a series of band concerts arranged for and maintained by the company. Wheeler's American band has been engaged to give one concert a week for ten weeks during the summer season. These concerts will be held some week day evening at the park and will be entirely free. The grandstand and large parking space provided for automobiles will make possible the enjoyment of these evening musicals by many people. The company has in mind not simply the pleasure of its own employees, but of the general public.

Appropriations have been made which will secure an extension of the athletic privileges of the park. Four more courts of the latest design are to be installed, with clay floors and cement banks. This is one of the most difficult and the most scientific of outdoor games. It is the intention of the company to arrange these courts into four classes—one equipped with wickets with one inch clearance; one with half-inch clearance, one with one-quarter inch clearance, and one regular court such as is used in Norwich for the national championship tournament. This will make it possible for those not at all expert as well as those who are more proficient to enjoy the privileges of this class of amusement.

The company is also contemplating installing volleyball and hand ball courts near the grandstand. Several sets of quoits will be provided for the devotees of this game and swings will be furnished for the children.

It is hoped that the ladies will take advantage of all of these privileges, as it is the desire of the company to furnish all possible means of outdoor recreation for them as well as for the men. An outdoor basketball ground is also to be laid out, and this no doubt will appeal to the ladies as well as the men.

Baseball is to be a big feature, as in the past, not simply on Saturdays, but also on week day evenings and "twilight" baseball will reign after supper several evenings during the week. It is anticipated also that provision will be made for other sorts of outdoor athletic and track feats, under competent instruction.

It is evident that during the summer months the recreation park will be about the busiest spot in Willimantic from morn till night. While the park is being maintained in the hope that it will be largely used by the employees of the American Thread company, yet the grounds are to be at all times open to the general public who desire to take advantage of them under proper restrictions, and it is a small price to pay for the opportunity.

Willimantic is particularly fortunate in having a resident in its borders a corporation actuated by such high ideals and so interested not only in its own people, but in the prosperity and welfare of the general public.

Seven Dogs Found Which Dog With Rabies Bit—W. H. Brown Sells Two Building Lots—Big Crowd of Rooters to Attend Taftville Game.

Health Officer G. H. Jennings notified the commissioner on domestic animals Monday of the mad dog conditions in Griswold and his orders regarding the at least a dozen dogs that were bitten in this morning. Investigation by the local authorities Sunday resulted in finding seven other dogs that were bitten. There were four in Hopeville and three of which were killed by the owners.

The willingness with which people comply with the law was evidenced by there being none at large by Monday night.

The mad dog passed through Hopeville on his way to the borough at noon, just as school there was out for the noon recess. Every dog he met he bit, but paid not the slightest attention to school children playing beside the road.

Twenty-eight years ago Michael Carney was bitten here by a mad dog. He died of hydrophobia about three months later. At that time the town officials caused a dozen dogs to be killed. They had all been bitten. They were taken to Shipman's grove and humanely shot.

Fire Destroys Shed and Damages House at Timothy Shea Place—What the Excited Fire Fighters Did.

There was an exciting fire just west of the village, on the Packer road, Monday morning, when the woodshed on the Timothy Shea place was burned to the ground and about half of the house consumed. An Italian family had recently moved there. Monday at about 9:30 a. m. Mr. Shea and Herman Chapman met there on some business and saw the woman carry a dish of ashes to the woodshed. In a few minutes the shed was blazing and the house caught before Mr. Chapman could get into his buggy and start for help. He notified Mr. Kingsley, who sent his entire force and autos, as did B. R. Briggs, W. P. Babcock was in Jewett City on business when he got word of the fire, but was on hand in good time. Fire extinguishers saved the day. There was the usual number of incidents. A gang of helpers took down the almost new range and threw it out of doors, breaking it badly. Someone kicked out a window, creating a breeze that nearly undid all the efforts made to save the house, and one excited fellow threw his pail of water over the heads of the workmen instead of on the fire.

Mr. Shea, who now lives with his daughter in Moosup, is one of the town's most respected old residents and his neighbors and friends are glad that a part of his property could be saved.
